YOUR CREDIT SUMMARY

This section includes a summary of the content of your credit report. Adverse credit information may include judgments, enforcement actions, sequestrations and rehabilitation. If you have paid your accounts late or have failed to pay, this will appear under either judgments, adverse information, notices or your payment profile which is your account payment history over 24 months.

Sub-Records	Number	Balance	Most Recent Date
Judgment/s
Notice/s
Default/s
Trace Alert/s
Enquiries

1. JUDGMENT/S

If you fall behind with your account payments and fail to respond to reminder letters then the credit/service provider may apply for a court judgment. A judgment is granted when a court gives you the instruction to pay the outstanding account. A judgment remains on your credit report for 5 years and details of the judgment/s are outlined below. Judgment information will be removed when proof of payment is received from the credit/service provider.

2. NOTICE/S

If you fail to pay an outstanding account the credit/service provider can take legal action in the form of a notice against you. Notices include administration orders, provisional sequestration, sequestrations and rehabilitation orders. Administration orders remain on your credit report for 5 years, rehabilitation orders remain for 5 years and sequestration orders remain for 5 years if no rehabilitation order is granted.

3. NOTARIAL BOND/S

A notarial bond is not considered negative information. It is a bond over moveable property registered by the Registrar of Deeds. Should you become insolvent the credit/service provider who holds the registered bond has preferential claim over the finances raised from the sale of this bond.

4. DEFAULT/S

This information relates to late payment or non-payment of your account/s, where the credit/service provider enforces their rights by taking action against you. If the default relates to an enforcement action (handed over for collection or recovery, legal action or write off, etc.) or a subjective classification (delinquent, slow paying, absconded or not contactable, etc.), the default will remain on your credit report for 1 year. Default information will be removed when proof of payment is received from the credit/service provider.

5. TRACE ALERT/S

A trace alert is placed on your credit report when a credit/service provider has asked to be notified when any updated contact information is loaded onto your credit report as they are unable to make contact with you due to outdated contact information.

6. ENQUIRIES

An enquiry is recorded whenever your credit report is accessed by another party such as a credit/service provider. Enquiries remain on your credit report for up to 1 year. An enquiry is typically done when you apply for credit/services. If you do not recognise any of the companies that have done an enquiry and you have not authorised any enquiry, it may indicate potential fraud or identity theft is taking place. When you personally check your credit report with TransUnion, the enquiry that is recorded will not adversely affect your credit standing.

This field indicates the manner in which an account is owned by you. There are three ways in which you can own an account.

Sole Proprietor:	If you are a Sole Proprietor you do business in your own name and you are the sole owner of the business. You personally are responsible for all the debts of the business. As a Sole Proprietor you may do business with a trade name other than your legal name
Joint Loan:	A Joint loan or Joint Bond is when the full value of your home loan is registered with yourself and one or more other individuals. The Payment History information is reflected against all the participants of the Joint Loan and not just the individual/s who are making payment
Other:	If an ownership type is not supplied for either a Sole Proprietor or a Joint Loan then the Ownership Type defaults to "Other"
